Wimbledon Facts

The Wimbledon Championship is one of the four major Grand Slam tournaments in tennis. The US Open, Australian Open and French Open are the other three. Of the four, Wimbledon is the only one which is played in traditional grass courts, while the other three take place on hard and clay surfaces.

Did you know:

- 54,250 tennis balls are used during the Championships period.
- The tournament commands a global news access audience estimated at more than 1 billion people in 200 territories.
- Tennis balls weren't always yellow. The originally white balls were replaced in 1986 so that they could be seen more easily on television!

The Tennis Player Blessing

Read this inspirational poem and talk about why it is inspirational after!

May your backhand be a weapon.
May your forehand always spin.
May the shots you aim at lines always be called "in."

May your cross courts always hit their mark.
May your drop-shots not be short.
May your lobs always be out of reach.
May your smashes find the court.
